TEXI SESAME DUO

Folding cabinet for 2 sewing machines

A tailor's workshop in one closet?

Markers, scissors, rulers, buttonhole cutters, pins, needles, thread, tweezers, bobbins, feet, wires and other sewing accessories in one place. And most importantly - machine and overlock too. You push on the board and the sewing machine appears from under the work table as if by magic, and with one movement of your hand you slide out the shelf with the overlocker. When you're done, close it three times and you've got everything organized in a locked cabinet.

SYSTEM MATIC

Check what holder you have in your machine. Measure the height, from the bottom of the foot, to the screw that secures the handle to the needle bar. If the distance is about 1.5 cm, it means that we have a low type of foot mounting in our machine. The vast majority of household machines have this type of handle. If the distance from the bottom of the mounted foot to the screw is approximately 2.5 cm, it is a high foot mount.
